

A black and white line drawing of a man in a long, flowing robe and a turban, standing with his arms crossed. He has a beard and a serious expression. The background is simple, with vertical lines suggesting a wall or a doorway.

